The Cremation Association of North America (CANA) and the International Cemetery, Cremation and Funeral Association (ICCF) embrace environmentally friendly efforts to extend the long term availability of natural resources. To that end, non-organic metallic waste recovered in the cremation process such as orthopedic and dental implants, pacemakers and defibrillators, are packaged and recycled according to cremation provider specifications. Any revenues that may be received through the recycling process are donated to a recognized charitable organization with current 501c3 IRS nonprofit status.
